

FRANKFURTER SELECTED FOR HIGHEST COURT

President Sends Law
Professor's Name to the Senate

NATIVE OF VIENNA

Washington, Jan. 5—(AP)—Felix Frankfurter of Massachusetts, professor of the Harvard law school, was named by President Roosevelt today to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Frankfurter was named to the vacancy created by the death last July of Benjamin N. Cardozo of New York.

Frankfurter has had a long legal background. His chief sponsor on Capitol Hill was Senator Norris (Ind.-Neb.), one of the leading liberals in Congress.

Frankfurter, who is 56 years old and a native of Vienna, has been law professor at Harvard since 1914.

Frankfurter was the third appointment Roosevelt has made to the tribunal.

If confirmed by the Senate, he will succeed Justice Cardozo, who died July 9 after a long illness from heart disease.

No Change in Lineup
The new appointment is not expected to change the court's "liberal-conservative" lineup.

Cardozo, until he became ill on Dec. 10, 1937, led all his colleagues in supporting Roosevelt administration.

Attacks 'Lame Ducks'
Washington, Jan. 5—(AP)—President Roosevelt's appointment of Harry L. Hopkins and Frank Murphy to the cabinet was attacked on the senate floor today by Senator Bridges (R-N.H.).

"In his appointments the president apparently has made a specialty of naming lame ducks, people who have been repudiated in their own districts," the senator shouted.

"Mr. Hopkins has been repudiated in the last election by the people of the entire nation."

"Here is a man who has never met a payroll in his life," he said, referring to Hopkins' long career as a social worker leading up to direction of the huge spending-relief programs of the Roosevelt administration.

tration legislation brought before the tribunal.

There are now only two justices—McReynolds and Butler—who are described by the administration as "conservative." Both are Democrats and have been the leading court opponents of New Deal legislation.

Roosevelt's other appointees were Senator Hugo L. Black of Alabama to succeed Willis Van Devanter of Wyoming and Solicitor General Stanley Reed of Kentucky to succeed George Sutherland of Utah.

Three to Five
States in which the other justices lived when appointed are: New York—Chief Justice Hughes and Associate Justice Stone; Tennessee—McReynolds; Massachusetts—Brandeis; Pennsylvania—Roberts; Alabama—Black; Kentucky—Reed.

Hughes, Stone and Robert are Republicans. The other five are Democrats.

Van Devanter retired in the midst of the congressional fight over Roosevelt's plan to add new members to the Supreme Court. His retirement aided in defeating the proposal.

Black's selection resulted in widespread criticism because of his previous connection with the Ku Klux Klan.

Reed was confirmed by the Senate unanimously.

Others May Retire
There has been much speculation over the possibility of other justices retiring on account of age. None was given any indication that he plans to do so.

Justice Brandeis is 82, Hughes and McReynolds, 76, and Butler 72.

Ages of the younger justices are: Stone, 65, Roberts, 64, Reed, 54, and Black, 52.

Roosevelt still has a long way to go to break any record for the appointment of new justices.

George Washington holds the record. During his eight years in office he named the original six members and filled seven vacancies—13 in all.

President Taft, who later became chief justice, is runner-up with six appointees. Andrew Jack-

Broke Even

Waukegan, Ill., Jan. 5—(AP)—Kenneth Bratz of Kenosha, Wis., broke even financially in his two appearances in Lake county courts.

A Zion City magistrate fined him $100 and $6 costs May 8, 1937 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Yesterday Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady of Waukegan ruled Bratz should get his money back.

"It's the law in Zion that court cannot be held on Sunday."

FREE RALLY OF HOMEMAKERS IN CITY NEXT WEEK

Free Four-Day Cooking School to be Held in Dixon Theater

"I know how to cook. Why should I go to Cooking School?"

Occasionally the Telegraph gets that response to its invitation to join the popular parade to the four-day convention of homemakers, starting Tuesday afternoon at 1:45 at the Dixon Theatre.

What's in a Cooking School? Plenty besides sugar and spice. The words "Cooking School," may lack glamour, yet no title, new or old, could convey a picture of this appealing course, with its neighborly gathering—eagerly responsive; its modern, completely equipped kitchen, humming with activity; its generous gifts and its unique mingling of profit and entertainment.

"Homemakers' Convention" describes the enthusiastic rally more accurately, for in this case the school itself has been graduated, expending beyond the strictly culinary.

True there is all the fascination of watching an expert measuring, mixing, baking and frying, but The Telegraph's free course reaches into many other departments identified with home management. Problems of budgeting, marketing, storing foods, choice of kitchen and laundry equipment, disguising left-overs—all these come under the heading of "new business" to say nothing of suggestions on how to overcome Junior's "I won't eat this" ultimatum.

Little Mrs. Bride, on the right, may be concerned about directions on how to make a "good cup of coffee" whereas, Mrs. Jones, the pupil on the left, may be equally concerned about the mysteries of laundering colored clothes.

Notebooks and Pencils.
Gather up those questions and all the other worries centering around fallen cakes and menus for finicky children and bring them to the Telegraph's hospitable Cooking School. Bring notebooks and pencils, too, for wise counsel is worth preserving, even when it's free.

Mrs. Emily Lautz, nationally-known authority on home management, seems to know all the answers. Even more important, she words her explanations concisely and clearly, so that the solution of Mrs. Jones' laundry woes also may help Mrs. Bride, who had not ventured to ask that particular question in class.

Allentown, Pa., Jan. 5—(AP)—Farmer John P. Remaley has to serve a month in jail on a drunken driving charge—but it won't interrupt his farm chores.

He'll spend only nights in jail.

The judge granted him permission to leave during the day after Remaley protested that otherwise he could not operate his farm. He is let out at 6 A. M. and returns to jail at 7 P. M.

Two Cripples In Burning New York
Tenement Fire Escape; Four Perish

New York, Jan. 5—(AP)—Flames sweeping through a five-story tenement house in Upper Manhattan early today burned four persons to death and drove between 150 and 200 survivors into the pre-dawn streets amid a series of spectacular rescues.

Two cripples in the burning structure, including a 50-year-old man paralyzed from the hips down, waved frantically until they attracted the attention of firemen. They were reached by scaling ladders.

Authorities were investigating a report that the blaze started in a Christmas tree outside the door of two of the victims.

The dead, trapped on upper floors of the building, were listed as:

Mrs. Georgette Daugnault, 65, who lived alone.

Mrs. Anna Le Clare, 52, whose husband, William, has hair and face burned, escaped.

Harry Argess, 20, and his wife, Beckie, 18.

Crowds cheered the rescue of Cliff Blauvelt who dragged his paralyzed legs to a window on the fourth floor and crawled down a fire-escape to the second floor, where firemen reached him with a 20-foot ladder.

Another cripple, Mrs. May Carlee, 26, picked up her dog, Kiki, and hobbled on her crutches to a second-story window. Firemen carried her and the dog down a ladder.

Leake Reappointed Supt. of Highways by Supervisors' Action This Morning

Controversy Between Coroner and Board is Settled.

Seven members of the Lee county board of supervisors opposed the appointment of Fred W. Leake of Amboy as county superintendent of highways for a third term of six years, at the January meeting at the court house today.

In a roll call vote, which was asked by Supervisor L. D. Hemmaway of Alto township, who moved the appointment of the present incumbent for another six year term, Supervisor Charles Ramsdell of China, was the first to voice objection.

"In order to save my own neck, I vote no," the China township supervisor stated when the clerk called his name. Six others opposed the reappointment without explaining their vote, namely: Ed H. Stanley and Angier Wilson, Dixon; Seth Anderson, East Grove, Albert Willis, Lee Center; Charles Kuebel, Sublette and H. O. Risitter, Willow Creek.

The certification of Superintendent Leake from the state department of highways at Springfield, to whom the application was referred at the December meeting, was read to the board before the roll call vote was asked.

To Eliminate Controversy
A resolution planned to eliminate further controversy between Dr. Kenyon B. Segner, Lee county coroner, and the board, which fixes a salary and expense account, totalling $800 per year, was adopted.

The measure provides an annual salary for the coroner of $600 and the sum of $200 for expenses of the office, including telephone and telegraph charges, exclusive of mileage.

Justin Becker of the fees and salaries committee requested comment by State's Attorney Edward Jones on the resolution before it was submitted to a vote of the board.

The county prosecutor explained to the board that a survey of reports of the coroner's office in Lee county for the past eight years disclosed earnings amounting to approximately $800, and because of this fact the salary and expense account was fixed at $800.

The adoption of the resolution, he stated in his opinion, would eliminate the holding of unnecessary inquests and put an end to the existing controversy between the coroner and the board.

Semi-Annual Reports
The resolution provides that the coroner file with the board a semi-annual report of the activities of his office and the amounts to be paid as salary and expenses are to be realized from funds collected by the coroner in accordance with the state law which provides the sum of $16 to be charged for the holding of an inquest. The state's attorney made it plain to the board that the amount paid the coroner in salary and expenses must necessarily be collected from fees of his office, and that failure to make the semi-annual reports as required in the resolution, provided for the imposition of a fine.

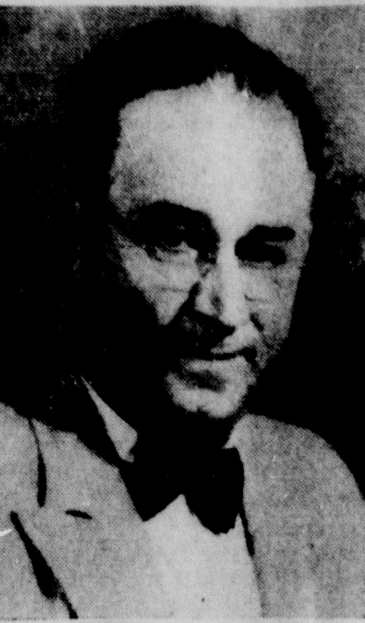

Several members of the board presented questions which ranged chiefly around the authority of the coroner to order an inquest and to make a charge in excess of $16. In answer to the latter, State's Attorney Jones replied that a charge in excess of the $16 as provided by law was a subject to be settled between the estate and the coroner.

Two Appropriations
At the opening of the meeting two resolutions were presented for appropriations, both of which were unanimously adopted. In the first of these the sum of $11,757.50 of motor fuel tax obligations was appropriated for state aid construction of the Binghamton bridge.

The second resolution provided for an appropriation of $5,100.50 from the county motor fuel tax fund to be used for day labor on the continuation of the Lowell park extension.

SANDERS ESTATE TRUSTEE LIABLE IN $20,890 SUIT

Judge Manus Today Decided Against Franklin Grove Man

Judge Albert H. Manus of Freeport, sitting in the Lee county circuit court today handed down an opinion in a judgment action totalling $20,890.29, the opinion being the final decision holding LeRoy J. Miller of Franklin Grove personally liable for mismanagement of a trust estate in the above amount.

The litigation was in the estate of Mrs. Mildred N. Sanders, in which her daughter, Mrs. Helen Sanders Bovey of this city, filed objections to the trustee's final report. Objections were filed on Mrs. Bovey's behalf by Attorneys George C. Dixon and Fremont M. Kaufman. Trustee Miller was represented by Attorneys E. E. Winger of this city and William Kehoe of Amboy.

The court sustained objections to the final report and ordered the accounts surcharged since 1927 totalling $20,890.29. The opinion of Judge Manus held that Chicago real estate securities and speculative investments become the property of the trustee.

The litigation has been pending in the circuit court since last February. Mrs. Sanders of Franklin Grove and Dixon, passed away January 9, 1925. Her will provided that her estate valued at $18,000 be invested by a trustee until an only child, Helen, reached the age of 24 years. The will further directed that the amount be used by a trustee in the investment of funds, "in government bonds, first farm mortgages and other equally good securities," with further directions to use the income and principal, if necessary, for the support of the daughter.

LeRoy J. Miller was appointed trustee of the estate in May, 1926. Manus in deciding the issues, referred to certain investments in Chicago real estate securities as "speculative investments."

$2,500,000,000 for WPA
The budget included an estimate that at least $750,000,000 would be required to operate WPA until June 30. Present funds are expected to run out February 8.

For the next year, the President asked $1,500,000,000 for the WPA. He requested no new public works program but estimated $366,000,000 would be necessary to carry out work already underway.

Next year's $8,995,663,200 expenditure estimates, which did not include $100,000,000 to be used for paying off debt, compared with a forecast of $9,492,329,000 for the current year. Receipts were set at $5,669,320,000 and $5,520,070,000 for the respective periods.

Roosevelt renewed his often-repeated suggestion that the best method of obtaining a balanced budget is the promotion of economic recovery.

"We can not by a simple legislative act raise the level of national income," he said, "but our experience in the last few years has amply demonstrated that through wise fiscal policies and other acts of government we can do much to stimulate it."

Deficits Constant
During the past nine years—a period which has seen the national income drop from a high of $81,000,000,000 in 1929 to about $40,000,000,000 in 1932 and rise again to about $70,000,000,000 in 1937—federal revenues, even though on a higher tax base, have never completely covered expenditures.

The President said it was a "well known fact" that the current spending program was necessary to check a recession.

"Any decision to decrease those expenditures now that recovery has just started," he continued,

"would constitute a new policy which ought not to be adopted without full understanding of what may be the result."

"May I say emphatically that I am not suggesting an ordinary budget which is always balanced and and extraordinary budget which is always unbalanced."

Hopes for Surplus
"The ordinary expenses of the government should continue to be met out of current revenues. But I also hope that those revenues in times of prosperity will provide a surplus which can be applied against the public debt that the government must incur in lean years because of extraordinary demands upon it."

The projected $4,458,000,000 public debt in mid-1940 would be close to the statutory limit of $45,000,000,000. Roosevelt is generally expected to ask Congress to raise the limit during the present session.

Discussing emergency expenditures of recent years, the President said that "we have not been throwing the taxpayers' money gasted system. The self-liquidating projects which they financed would be mortgaged gradually as their loans were repaid."

In his specific budgetary recommendations, the chief executive urged that the Civilian Conservation Corps be made permanent. The agency is scheduled to go out of existence June 30, 1940.

The senate quickly referred the Frankfurter nomination to its judiciary committee.

Prior to Frankfurter's appointment, some senators had urged that a westerner be named, since that section now is unrepresented beyond Minnesota.

Favorable Comment.
But first senatorial comment was from the west, and favorable. Senator Murray (D-Mont.) asserted that "Professor Frankfurter has the reputation of being a very able lawyer of the Supreme Court rank."

Senatorapper (R-Kan.) called the appointee—whose views have fitted those President Roosevelt has termed "liberal"—a man whom the senate would confirm with little opposition.

Senator Minton (D-Ind.), an administration supporter, beamed "I think it's great." And Senator Wagner (D-N.Y.) commented "an excellent appointment."

Senators Taft (R-Ohio), Vandenberg (R-Mich.) and Clark (D-Mo.) declined to comment on the nomination, although they praised Frankfurter's personal integrity.

Rep. Thomas (R-N.J.) was critical. He said the president might as well have named "Earl Browder or Harry Bridges."

Speaker Bankhead predicted "the appointment will be entirely satisfactory to the people because of his outstanding ability."

Rep. Crawford (R-Mich.), interpreted the nomination as a "further indication that the president is going straight ahead and surrounding and entrenching his program with New Deal sympathizers."

Frankfurter was the third member of the Jewish race to be appointed to the Supreme Court. The others were 82-year-old Justice Louis E. Brandeis and the late Justice Cardozo.

In asking congress today for a supplemental appropriation of $875,000,000 to carry work relief through next June, the president

MULTI-BILLION DOLLAR BUDGET SENT TO CONGRESS BY PRESIDENT—PUBLIC DEBT WILL BE CLOSE TO STATUTORY LIMIT

Federal Spending, Armament, Farm Relief and WPA Requests OTHER REQUESTS

Washington, Jan. 5—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked vast sums for national defense today in a multi-billion dollar budget that projected another deficit and an unprecedented public debt of $44,458,000,000 in 1940.

His annual report to Congress on the nation's finances advised emphatically against a "violent contraction" in spending or "drastic new taxes." He opened the way, however, to "moderate tax increases" to meet increased expenditures of $422,000,000 for armament and farm relief costs.

He called for $8,995,663,200 of federal spending in the fiscal year beginning July 1 and estimated the deficit for that year at $3,326,343,200.

He asked $1,609,000,000 for national defense, including an extra $500,000,000 to speed up the armaments program. Of the latter sum, however, only $210,000,000 would be disbursed next year.

Reiterates Preparedness
Reiterating the preparedness theme voiced in his annual message to Congress yesterday, the President said all are aware "of the grave and unsettling developments in the field of international relations during the past few years."

"Because of the conditions of modern warfare," he continued, "we must now perform in advance tasks that formerly could be postponed until war had become imminent."

Roosevelt did not specify the form of the suggested new taxes. He recommended continuance of a group of emergency "nuisance" levies scheduled to expire June 30.

Crediting the administration's current spending program with aiding "the existing upward movement of business and employment," the President said it should not be curtailed "arbitrarily or violently."

LEGISLATURE IN ADJOURNMENT UN- TIL NEXT MONDAY

Leaders and Committee Members Will be Named on Reconvention

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Bills to increase old age pensions and to keep Illinois' relief spending near the $4,000,000-a-month mark with extension of the three per cent sales tax were before the 61st General Assembly today.

Legislators recessed late yesterday until Monday when they will return to hear Acting Governor Stelle's message.

Republicans at their Peoria convention pledged $30 monthly old age pensions, but yesterday a Democrat, Senator Joseph E. Heckenkamp of Quincy, filed the first bill which would give each pensioner a monthly income of at least $30 a month. The average pension in Illinois now is about $18.40.

Heckenkamp's measure would take from the state welfare department the power to establish pension levels. The plan would take into consideration outside income, with the state supplying sufficient funds to raise the total income to $30.

The emergency bills to continue the present $3,900,000 monthly for relief until July 1 were filed by Senator Harold G. Ward of Chicago. The series of three bills calls for extending the three per cent sales tax to July 1 instead of allowing it to drop to two per cent on Feb. 15, and allocation of $4,500,000 additional to supplement the regular $3,000,000 monthly relief allotment with an additional $900,000 for the next five months.

Repeal Bill Filed
Repeal of the sales tax was advocated in a bill filed in the House by a first term legislator, Rep. Arnold L. Lund (R-River-side). Lund also introduced a bill which would exempt food sales from the three per cent tax.

Speaker Hugh W. Cross delayed appointment of a Republican House leader and committee assignments until next Monday. Senate president pro tem George

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 2 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. PRESENT, FORMER OFFICIALS OF RCA FACE COURT SUITS

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Present and former officials and directors of the Radio Corporation of America are charged with negligently and fraudulently permitting the dissipation and waste of corporate assets in three stockholders' suits on file today in Supreme Court.

All three complaints, which became public yesterday, criticized the directors for alleged failure to regain 2,000,000 shares of radio common stock given to General Electric Co. and Westinghouse in 1932, allegedly in return for certain patent and other rights said to have been terminated by a consent decree in an anti-trust suit.

The defendants denied the charges. Rose Druckerman, holder of 25 shares of stock, said in her complaint that this alleged failure caused a loss in one instance of $80,000,000 to RCA.

The Druckerman complaint also contended RCA lost $250,000,000 as the result of a deal with General Electric and Westinghouse which originated in 1929. In this transaction, it was charged, 6,580,375 shares of Radio common allegedly worth $250,000,000 were given the two corporations for assets said to be worth not more than $39,300,000.

The Druckerman complaint named 40 individuals. In actions brought by George Salevetz and Leo J. Coslow and by Jacob Fox, all minor stockholders, fewer individuals were named and no loss estimate was made.

MILK CONFERENCES
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Dr. A. C. Baxter, acting state health director, said today that approximately 75,000,000 gallons of milk were delivered to consumers from 450 downstate pasteurization plants during 1938.

The director said he had arranged a series of conferences with milk plant operators "to maintain the high standard of milk handling now prevailing" in the state. He said meetings would be held in Decatur on Jan. 12 and 26; Effingham Jan. 11 and 25; Carbondale Jan. 12 and 26; and Rockford Feb. 7, 21 and March 7.

CHALLENGE TO AGGRESSORS IS BASIS OF FIGHT

Congressional Conflict Over Neutrality Law Seems Assured

Washington, Jan. 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's challenge to aggressor nations stirred up a congressional conflict today over revision of the neutrality law.

Chairman Pittman (D-Nev.) of the Senate foreign relations committee interpreted a portion of the President's annual message as an invitation to Congress to revamp the act, but said there has been no suggestion as to the form the revision should take.

There were signs that any attempt to repeal the law would meet with strong Senate resistance.

"The American people wrote that law," said Senator Nye (R-N.D.) "It was legislation to keep this country out of other people's wars. I don't believe any force can repeal it."

The neutrality law directs the President to prohibit export of arms to warring nations. A "cash and carry" provision gives him power to limit shipments of supplies to those bought for cash and transported in vessels of the purchasing nation. A specific amendment bars arms shipments to Spain.

Against Aggression
The President told Congress yesterday this country should void any action or lack of action that would encourage, assist or build up an aggressor.

"We have learned that then we deliberately try to legislate neutrality," he said, "our neutrality laws may operate unevenly and unfairly—may actually give aid to an aggressor and deny it to the victim. The instinct of self-preservation should warn us that we ought not to let that happen any more."

Pittman said he did not interpret this passage to mean the administration would ask Congress to give the President power to name aggressor nations and place economic sanctions against them.

Nye said the neutrality act had strong bi-partisan support from such men as Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich.), LaFollette (Prog-Wis.), Wheeler (D-Mont.), Bone (D-Wash.) and Clark (D-Mo.).

Urge Referendum
Clark injected another controversial subject into the consideration of peace policies by introducing a war referendum resolution similar to that which the administration forced down in the House last year. It would amend the Constitution to require a popular vote before war could be declared, except in case of invasion of North America.

Although congressional interpretation of Roosevelt's wishes on the neutrality act provoked controversy, there was widespread praise of his outspoken denunciation of dictator nations.

Not all members of Congress, however, voiced agreement with his general exposition of foreign policy. Senator Taft, (R-Ohio), for instance, said the logical conclusion from the message "would seem to be another war with American troops sent across the ocean."

Seven peace organizations expressed disappointment with Roosevelt's views and pleaded for "calm and reason in world affairs."

41,239,659 ACRES AL- LOTTED FOR CORN PLANTING IN AREA

Washington, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The agriculture department announced today an allotment of 41,239,659 acres for corn-planting in the commercial corn area this year.

This area comprises 586 major corn producing counties in 12 mid-western states.

The allotment, made under provisions of the agricultural act, compared with 40,459,537 acres last year. However, the commercial area in 1938 included 20 fewer counties.

The department set the national corn acreage goal at between 94,000,000 and 97,000,000 acres—the same as last year.

Each county's share of the allotment will be distributed among growers on the basis of a formula prescribed in the farm law.

Farmers may comply with or ignore these allotments. However, only those who comply will be eligible for maximum benefit payments of between 14 and 15 cents a bushel on the normal yield of their allotments. Further, only cooperating farmers would be eligible for government loans on their grain providing loans are made available.

The allotments for the commercial area include: Illinois, 99 counties, 7,308,282 acres; Indiana, 82 counties, 3,583,181; Iowa, 99 counties, 9,274,993; Michigan, 41 counties, 4,110,922; Minnesota, 45 counties, 3,316,151; Missouri, 63 counties, 3,301,517; Ohio, 61 counties, 2,646,953; Wisconsin, 12 counties, 741,648; Kentucky, 8 counties, 270,915.

State To Spend $33,500,000 On Roads This Year

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5.—(AP)—The state division of highways announced today plans to spend approximately $33,500,000 for state road construction and repair this year.

The program will include 130 miles of new high type highway pavement, 135 miles of secondary type surfacing, 70 miles of grading, 48 bridges, 38 railroad grade separations and seven highway separations.

The announced building program will include $19,560,000 worth of county and city road construction to be paid for with refunds from the motor fuel tax. This phase of construction will add 618 miles of secondary road improvement to the state-wide program.

Officials said today they have received authorization for the expenditure of $5,680,296 in Federal aid highway funds during the fiscal year which starts July 1. About half of this appropriation is included in the division's 1939 expenditure estimate.

The 1939-40 Federal appropriation earmarked $4,043,313 for improvement of the Federal aid highway system including extensions through cities, $606,487 for second roads, and $1,030,486 for elimination of hazards at railroad grade crossings.

Ticks can live eight months without water and three years without food, according to scientists.

The German government has placed first aid necessities in mile posts along highways.

New Chemical Protects From Mustard Gas Burn

Geneva, N. Y., Jan. 5.—(AP)—A new chemical compound for virtually complete protection for soldiers and civilians against one of war's worst horrors, the burns of mustard gas, was announced today by officials of Hobart College.

"Mustard", 20 years after the World War, still rates as the most effective poison gas. The new chemical, sprayed on clothing, was announced as protection for months against the burns.

The discoverer is Dr. Ralph H. Bullard, professor of chemistry, member of the American Chemical Society and several honorary science organizations, formerly an industrial chemist. The formula of the chemical was not made public.

ANOTHER LEFT-WING APPOINTMENT

Selection by President Roosevelt of Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan to succeed Homer S. Cummings as attorney general of the United States is additional proof of the chief executive's stiff-necked determination to go his way, regardless of the people's desire.

The objection to Harry Hopkins, recently named secretary of commerce, was that Hopkins knew nothing about commerce, in addition to being a left-winger.

It can not be stated that Mr. Murphy knows nothing about law. He has been to school here and abroad. The chief objection to his appointment seems to be Murphy's idea that sometimes the law should be enforced, and sometimes not, depending upon the prejudice of law-enforcement officials. As governor of Michigan Mr. Murphy failed dismally to maintain order during the sitdown strike epidemic. His excuse was that he wanted to avoid bloodshed.

Communists and other lawless characters who instigated the strikes took advantage of this unwarranted fear and instituted a reign of terror that did immeasurable harm to the cause of labor and caused the governor to be defeated decisively in the following election.

From a political angle Mr. Murphy would seem to have been repudiated. The people wanted no more of him. So the President honored him.

Criticism of the Hopkins and Murphy appointments will be heard when the Senate is asked to confirm them, but there is a conviction that the cabinet is the President's own concern. Cabinet members are the President's chief aides. If the President is bound to follow a corkscrew path to the left, he might as well have aides of his own temperament. Men of a different caliber would be helpless, and the Senate could hardly force appointment of them at any rate.

As it was with Hopkins, so it is with Murphy. The repudiated governor of Michigan will do less harm as a cabinet member than as a justice of the Supreme Court.

By the way, where is the President who talked so much of "mandates?"

WHO WANTS TO GO TO WAR?

One group is engaged in a campaign to have the federal government lift its restriction on exportation of arms to the Spanish government. Another group is waging a campaign to have the government prohibit commercial dealings between the United States and Germany.

Our restrictions on munitions to Spain arise from the neutrality law which was intended to keep us out of war. If we lift the embargo, does that mean we want to get into the war?

In common practice, munitions are contraband. Ships carrying them are subject to seizure by any belligerent, and owners have no recourse. We recognize the Spanish government, but not the rebels, so if the rebels were to sink an American ship carrying munitions to the loyalists, a demand would arise among loyalist sympathizers for the navy to proceed against the rebel "pirates." That would have a tendency to draw us not only into the Spanish conflict, but into the whole unsavory mess of European politics. Literature issued by those working for repeal of the embargo against munitions has not stated the whole case. Our own government has been buying surplus American wheat and permitting it to be shipped to both loyalists and rebels. On the basis of need, most of it has gone to the loyalists. The government of this particular democracy has not permitted the tax payers to know what it is costing them. In fact, the tax payers for a time were not permitted to know that shipments were being made at all.

With regard to an embargo against Germany, it would appear that its application would only add to what ails the German nation and make Hitler stronger than ever. Certainly it would do the persecuted German Jews no good, and might give rise to another campaign against them.

As matters now stand, American importers may buy German goods or not, as they wish. Private citizens may do likewise. We do not see where the cause of "democracy" can be promoted in this country by arbitrary control over what the people buy as long as no law is violated.

If we are going to war, purely to assist persecuted minorities in Spain or Germany, let us do it with our eyes open; let us not be dragged blindly into it.

DEPRESSIONS NORMAL?

At 80, Suffragist Carrie Chapman Catt tells NEA Writer Marian Young that she has decided "a depressive state of affairs is normal and that a boom is not."

Mrs. Catt, who saw her long fight to enfranchise women climaxed with the suffrage amendment in 1920, makes this observation not as one who herself is depressed or disillusioned but as one who has watched closely the nation's economic and political workings for 60 years.

"Only four times in my 80 years have I seen what we are pleased to call 'good times,'" says Mrs. Catt. "There have been depressions of one sort and another through all the remaining years."

Certainly no one could with reason accuse Mrs. Catt of resignation to the inevitability of things as they are—her whole fighting career gives the lie to that. So her comment on depressions probably carries a goodly share of mellowed wisdom.

LIMA CONFERENCE FALLS FLAT

When Secretary of State Hull and his oddity-assorted delegation went to the pan-American conference at Lima it was hoped they would be able to regiment all the republics of the western hemisphere in a defensive alliance aimed at the dictatorships, calling the latter by name.

It was hoped all delegates would commit their governments actively against nazi and fascist penetration, either by propaganda, commerce or military action.

If so, the conference was a failure. Little came of it but oratory, and since much of that was in Spanish it will be long before we find out what was said. The Latin-American states hope, of course, that we will prevent their being gobbled up by European powers, but they still wish to sell goods to these powers.

The United States is the great industrial power in this hemisphere. We wish to dispose of manufactured articles south of the Rio Grande. The others are largely agricultural producers. But we also produce farm crops which we can

Washington—It's a closely guarded secret, but Jack Garner and Jim Farley have made a confidential poll of Democratic leaders in every State in the Union asking why the Republicans staged a partial comeback last November.

The poll idea was Garner's. He suggested it to Farley, who in turn sent out 12,000 letters over his signature (in green ink) as chairman of the National Committee.

So far 8,000 replies have been received. Tabulation has not been completed, but two of the most frequent reasons given for the dent in Democratic victories are:

1. Farmer resentment at the administration's crop control policies.

2. Small-town uneasiness over the administration's spending and pro-labor policies.

The returns, which coincided exactly with Garner's personal views, fired him to turn his guns on two of the three Cabinet members directly involved—Henry Wallace and Henry Morgenthau.

Garner dislikes Secretary Frances Perkins, but so far he has said nothing to her face.

Garner on Rampage

However, he tackled Wallace at the last Cabinet meeting, declaring bluntly that farmers were fed up with crop regimentation and benefit payments; that it was time Wallace did something about it or the party would be sunk in 1940. Wallace defended himself, but Garner cut him short.

"The farmers don't want fancy theories," he snapped, "they want practical ideas."

Garner, who owns two Texas banks, aired his views to Morgenthau in a long letter. He told the Treasury chief that the country was getting uneasy over continued failure to balance the budget and that it was time something was done about it.

Note: When Garner invites a friend to join him in a drink he always says, "How about striking a blow for liberty?"

Thomas Jefferson Dog

Henry Wallace, who was a scientist when he left Iowa to come to Washington, is a scientist still. He is not half as much interested in the outcome of an election as in the outcome of a breeding experiment.

He spent half a day recently at the Beltsville Experimental Farm puzzling over a way to cross different breeds of dogs to produce a new and superior species. He is working with two exotic breeds—the Hungarian Puli dog and a Turkish shepherd dog.

His theory is that if he can combine the best shepherd dog with the best bird dog, the best watch dog, and the best house dog, the result will be a canine aristocrat superior to anything the world has known.

A friend remarked, "Mr. Secretary, aren't you trying to produce a George Washington or an Abraham Lincoln of the dog world?" Wallace replied, "Well, since I'm a Democrat, I'd rather say a Thomas Jefferson."

France and Flour

It may seem like a long jump between Franco's drive against Barcelona and American wheat shipments to Spain, but there is a connection between them just the same.

U. S. flour shipments were deliberately planned to keep the Loyalists alive and fighting during the winter. Furthermore, they were planned by the President, himself, in part to make up for the short-sighted policy of his State Department when it opposed lifting the Spanish embargo last May.

Simultaneously, Franco, acting in co-operation with his chief mentor, Mussolini, has determined not sell to the Latin-American states. With a mind to balance of trade, the Latins wish to sell their farm crops to Europe, since they can not sell them to us, and Europe won't buy these crops unless the Latins in return take a fairly large amount of manufactured goods.

Much emphasis was laid upon the penetration of the fascist theory in South America. It would be disadvantageous to the United States to have any of these states adopt fascism and serve as a tail on the fascist kite. Still, we have seen Mexico go communist and seize United States properties without taking any effectual step to stop it. If it is purely a matter of ideologies, and trade has little connection with it, it is hard to understand why such a furor has been raised about fascist ideology, while Mexico's communist development has been a matter only of academic interest.

We suspect the South American dictators disliked the names we aimed at eastern hemisphere totalitarianism.

The result of the conference is that things will go ahead as before.

NO, NOT THAT

State Senator George Klemgard of Spokane, Wash., probably is well-intentioned when he announces he will make a sound film of the Washington legislature in action, but it is to be hoped he can be dissuaded.

There would seem to be too much of the histrionic already in our legislative bodies, both state and national, without the added incentive of a movie camera.

It is doubtful if the average legislator could resist the temptation to add several pages to his speeches if he knew his words and sound effects were being recorded.

that if the Loyalists are able to last through the present winter, his battle is as good as lost. Therefore, he is putting his last and hardest punch into the drive on Barcelona to win the war this winter.

If he loses, or if the Spanish war drags through the winter, the dictator nations figure that the Congress probably will lift the Spanish embargo during the present session. The material and psychological effect of this would be terrific, would probably mean a victory for Loyalist Spain.

If Franco loses, also, he is sure to have rebellion within his own ranks. Already there is considerable insurgent unrest, not only at the length of the war, but against the Italians. At present Italian troops are stationed with the insurgents partly to spur the latter into fighting.

But—if Franco scores some impressive victory before Jan. 11, big brother Benito in Rome can bring pressure on Neville Chamberlain, during their coming love-feast, to grant Franco belligerent rights. This would give him the right to blockade U. S. wheat shipments, would end the war in a few weeks.

Once Mussolini gets a friendly dictator in control of Spain, he, in turn, can get almost anything he wants from France in North Africa. For Spain is the key to the Mediterranean. Whoever holds it can disrupt transportation of French black troops from Africa to France, also can split the French army by forcing France to keep one or two divisions on guard along the Spanish border.

Co-Operative Cordell
Roosevelt feels very keenly the importance of keeping Spain democratic. As the mother country to Spanish America, it is the key to fascism or democracy south of the Rio Grande.

The amount of co-operation Roosevelt gets from his Secretary of State is illustrated by what happened at the Lima Conference. Prior to the conference, the United States officially queried both France and Great Britain whether they objected to a Pan-American attempt to mediate the war in Spain. Both replied that they would be delighted to have the war settled.

So, since the United States did not want to get out in front, it was agreed in advance that Cuba should make the mediation proposal, and that the United States would support Cuba.

But when Mr. Hull got down to Lima, and when the Cuban delegate made his proposal, the United States did nothing. Mr. Hull and associates abstained from voting.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

A fascinating pastime with

Albert Edward Wiggam, S. C. Author of

"THE MARKS OF A CLEAR MIND."

"The keenest anguish known to human nature is the pain of a new idea." (Bagehot). We hope this column brings you pain.

Answer to Question No. 1—

1. No, partly because, as I showed a few days ago, until recently, women have had very few societies outside the church to join. They have probably had more tendency to join the church than men have had, partly because they tend to be more introverted and thus to seek the consolations of religion and the comforting association of fellow members. But man tends more to be an organizer, to carry out his designs through groups and thus he is the chronic "joiner" of the human family.

Answer to Question No. 2—

2. Yes, many people eat their hearts out with ambitions they can never realize. They want the moon, with a few stars thrown in. How many letters do I receive saying, "Oh, if I could only write" from people who express themselves so poorly I can hardly tell what they really want.

They do not want to write, they merely wish they were famous writers. People who really want to write can nearly always write passably well. So with all foolish ambitions. The happiest person is the one whose "ambition picture" as I call it, fits his abilities and limitations and who has a job that fits both.

Answer to Question No. 3—

3. If you do not you will never become an educated person; you will always be that pest and danger of the world—the half-educated person. You can teach either the ignorant or educated person a great deal but you can't teach the half-educated anything. He refuses to see any side but his own. It is only when educated men meet in tolerant council that the social conflict begins to find intelligent solutions.

NEW YEAR'S LOVE

by Angela Lorden

The Characters
Noel Marchand, a beautiful young actress.

Allan Collings, the man she loves.

David Norris, the man she is going to marry.

Yesterday: Noel goes to meet Allan's boat, but when Elaine comes, Noel excuses herself.

CHAPTER 19
"Nice To See You"

"Hello, Allan! It's very exciting to hear your voice again."

It was as easy as that—just enough friendly enthusiasm in her tone. She was carrying it off very well. Only Allan was at the other end of the line. He couldn't see her hand tremble, couldn't realize the effort she exercised to give an impression of calm.

From the moment she ran away from the pier, though three hours until now, she'd been persuading herself she was being unduly dramatic.

Once in her room she counted the minutes until the hour was over. Now he was coming down the gangplank now he was greeting his mother—now he had Elaine in his arms.

Now he was at the hotel—they were at the hotel. She could pick up the telephone and ask for him and she'd hear his beloved voice speaking her name. But she would not call. Ever!

Noel thought about that at least five times in the next few minutes. She picked up the receiver once, then put it back on the hook before the operator could answer.

"Noel, hello!" she heard his voice almost shouted at herself. "You're not going to call him!"

So, she picked up the telephone and asked for the Lancaster.

"Hello, Noel!" the dear familiar voice answered. And then she managed her conventional greeting. "She was convincingly pleasant—no more; at least, her voice was."

"Hard luck for you you couldn't wait at the dock, Noel." He sounded as though he regretted it keenly. "Believe me, I was waiting. The play was still on? She told him it was. He was so anxious to see it. More mention of wanting to see her—soon. That was all. He was gone from the telephone, and he hadn't said when!"

Noel made herself ready for a luncheon engagement with Anita Swanson. She was feeling let down, a sad sort of aftermath feeling. It was better, though, than hectic expectation. She was in her own place; she'd remember that.

Luncheon was pleasant, inconsequential. Anita was in a talkative mood, didn't seem to notice Noel's quiet manner.

"Douglas is letting me go out to Hollywood next month," Anita confided eagerly. "He's been so stingy of late. I wasn't sure he'd be willing. Lord, will I be glad to get back there for a little while! I miss it so much, Noel."

Anita spoke often of missing Hollywood. She got a sad look in her eyes, when she referred to the movie career she'd given up for Douglas. When Noel and every-one else knew she had been a bit player in the films and had attracted Swanson on one of his Hollywood treks.

Maybe that's the way I'll be talking about my stage work, after I'm married David, Noel thought.

"You must be thinking of something unpleasant," Anita suggested, at that moment.

Noel gave her startled glance. "No, as a matter of fact, I wasn't."

Later they walked toward the Fifth Avenue stores. Anita had plenty of shopping to do, she explained to Noel who remembered an appointment opportunistly. She was in no mood to follow Anita's mad scurry for smart things to take to Hollywood.

The hours passed somehow and she was at the theater where everything else in the world except the play was left outside the stage door. She took unusual care of her make-up, was impatient with Clara's about a loose clasp on her white gown.

"Snap Out Of It!"

Once on the stage, after her first entrance, Noel's quick glance swept the front half of the house. If he were there, she'd know.

"Snap out of it, baby," Gerald mumbled under his breath at the moment he held her in his arms. "You're from stage acquaintances."

For answer, she let herself go limp. He was furious. "This is love, you say," he still whispered. "Aloud, for the audience, he begged her fervently."

"Darling, love me forever. Tell me once more, when I come back, you'll be waiting."

Noel picked up the cue and went back into her role but after Gerald left the stage, as the curtain was falling, her eyes again sought Allan's face in the sea before her. He wasn't there!

She hadn't expected him tonight—that's what she told herself after the second act and when the last curtain had come down as she went through the wings, she couldn't help remembering: He'll be somewhere with Elaine this evening.

In her dressing-room, Noel recalled this was one of the evenings David wouldn't be calling for her. She was ashamed of her relief.

"I'm not seeing anyone tonight unless it's important," she told Clara. "She was in no mood for visits from stage acquaintances who would drop in to give her a tip on improving a line or a gesture."

Someone knocked on the door. Clara opened it a little. The stage doorman said something. Clara interrupted haughtily:

"Miss Marchand's busy. She can't see nobody right now and she's from stage acquaintances who would drop in to give her a tip on improving a line or a gesture."

Clara closed the door. "Usually she laid a card in front of Noel on the dressing table. One glance and Noel cried out:

"Run, Clara!—before he goes. Bring him here."

The maid was down the corridor in a flash and came back a moment later, breathlessly. Noel standing in the middle of the small room looked beyond Clara.

"Noel!" She heard him say her name, knew he was here. Still in her last act costume she went toward him, hands outstretched. "Allan, it is good to see you!"

He took both her hands in his, held them and smiled down at her. "I don't expect to see you tonight—your first night home," she stammered.

"I'm here," he grinned. "And I can't tell you how grand you were in the play."

Suddenly there seemed nothing to say. Noel sank back in her chair offered him the only other seat in the room. "Sit down," Allan said and told her all about Chile.

They laughed, then. "That's a big order," she had wanted to say. "Tell me everything about you, Allan, all the little things I haven't learned."

"I thought about you a lot down there—the fun we had, how nice you were to me. He said it awfully."

Noel couldn't remember how it happened, but he was waiting for her outside, she was getting into the room, beaming on Clara as she took her stage gown from her.

"Where shall we go?" Allan wanted to know when she joined him in the play.

"It doesn't matter—anywhere," Noel almost sang it. What difference where they went as long as Allan was with her? They walked blocks north along Broadway. Noel didn't know there were crowds all around her. Allan was here!

Sense of Closeness
At Columbus Circle she asked him, "Is Albany our destination?"

Allan was all concerned. "Are you tired?"

"No, no!" Noel reassured him. "I could go on for hours. It's heavenly—this spring night air."

Noel was a little afraid of the moment. She wanted to make it last forever—this sense of closeness to Allan. "I'd like some coffee," she requested in a matter-of-fact voice, hoping he wouldn't hear the loud beating of her heart.

"How about Rollins?" Allan asked.

"Too many people there," Noel replied.

"Well—where shall it be?" They went to Rollins's after all. Noel laughing exclaimed she was hungry and ordered scrambled eggs.

They sat at a table. Noel asked, "Now, how about Chile?" she asked, as they drank their coffee.

"Night life? Or natives? Or zing? Which shall it be?"

"Everything," Noel told him, spreading her hands in a comprehensive gesture. "How far away from Santiago were you? And have they mosquitoes? And are the women very beautiful?"

He talked seriously then—about the men who were down there with him, the primitive existence the thrill of their work, the occasional jaunts into a town many miles away. He drew maps on the tablecloth and Noel listened, enthralled with everything he told her.

"It's two o'clock," she said in dismay,

McNichols Family Returns Home After Caribbean Trip

Dr. and Mrs. W. A. McNichols and their three children, Bill, Martha Ann, and Sara Lynn, are back from a 17-day Caribbean cruise, with fascinating tales of foreign shores and interesting experiences. The family, whose traveling companions on the journey were Mrs. McNichols' parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Zook of Burbank, Calif., returned to Dixon yesterday.

Sailing Dec. 16 aboard the S. S. Santa Paula from New York City, the ship proceeded to Curacao, Dutch West Indies, and the Republic of Venezuela. Disembarking at La Guira for a motor trip across the Republic, the party visited the capital, Caracas, which they found to be a beautiful old Spanish town. Here the travelers viewed numerous statues of Bolivar, liberator of various South American republics, and were impressed with the modern appearance of Country clubs and other buildings.

From Caracas, the Dixonites proceeded to Maracay, where they had hotel reservations at the Jardin, a unique hostelry built by the tyrant dictator Gomez, who centered his endeavor upon an attempt to change the capital from Caracas to Maracay. Under his supervision, modern airports and military barracks were constructed, as well as a replica of the famous bull ring in Valencia, Spain, and miles of hard-surfaced roads which carry travelers safely and easily through the treacherous mountain passes of the Andes.

Later, the party continued to Valencia, from where they sailed for the island of Aruba, where the Standard Oil company maintains a huge refining plant.

On Christmas day, the McNichols party were guests of friends in Cartagena, the Misses Rosa Maria and Anna M. Covo, whom they had met on a visit to Cartagena a year ago. The Covo sisters, who were educated in the United States, were dinner guests of the Dixonites aboard the Santa Paula on Christmas night. The Covo home was elaborately decorated for Christmas, even to cotton snow, though the thermometer outside hovered near the 100-degree mark.

The Santa Paula's itinerary also included a trip through the Canal Zone, and a visit to Jamaica. At Kingston, the Dixon family was interested in the resort, Shaw's Park, founded by Lord Babbington, which is the residence of the Duke of York on his visits to the city.

A day's pause at Haiti took the Dixonites to the Citadel, the mountain home of King Christophe, ruler of the Black Republic. Backward and unprogressive, Haiti is one of the most desolate spots on earth, in the opinion of the Dixon family, who were equally impressed by the friendliness of the people of Venezuela and Colombia.

It was during a so-called "Amateur Hour" aboard the Santa Paula that members of the Dixon family experienced one of the most exciting happenings of their entire trip, when young Bill McNichols, Dixon high school sophomore, was asked to play an accordion solo for the same program

Wed In Iowa

Miss Geraldine Dissinger, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dissinger of Polo, and Allan Montgomery, youngest son of Mrs. N. A. Montgomery of Genoa, were married Dec. 31 at the Methodist Episcopal church in Dewitt, Iowa. The Rev. R. E. Jerrell read the vows at 2 o'clock.

The bride wore a street-length dress of navy blue crepe with gold accessories. She was graduated from Polo Community high school in 1934 and from Northern Illinois State Teachers college at DeKalb in 1938. She is now teaching the Barclay school near Polo.

Mr. Montgomery, who is a graduate of Genoa high school with the class of 1933, is employed by the Oster Manufacturing company at Genoa and Racine.

In the spring, Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery will be at home in Genoa.

Eichler Store Force to Have Dinner Party

Employees of the Dixon and Amboy stores of Eichler Brothers, Inc., will be guests of the management at a baked ham dinner in the basement of the local store on West First street this evening. The occasion is the annual party planned by the Eichler cousins, Victor and Joseph, in courtesy to their store force.

A miniature bee hive, a decorative motif reflecting the familiar title of the Dixon store, is to be the centerpiece on the party table. Green tapers will light the scene, and green and white place cards will mark the covers.

Making up the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eichler, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Eichler, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miller, Mrs. Jennie Eichler, Mrs. Emma Eichler, Mrs. Bert Buhler, Mrs. Ray Kline, Jr., the Misses Irma Grose, Florence Netze, Ethel Fish, Mary Vaile, Bernice Good, Jean Bovey, Marian Biggers, Margaret O'Donnell, Goldie Albright, Florence Koerper, and Dorothy Gonnemann, and Ellsworth Miller of Dixon, and Miss Minnie Johnson, Mrs. Catherine Leake, and Miss Ethel Donnelly of Amboy.

After dinner, the group plans to attend the theatre.

BRIDGE HOSTESS
Mrs. Ralph Gonnemann was a bridge hostess of Tuesday evening. Mrs. John Thomas and Mrs. Harry Humphrey received score favors at the close of play.

As refreshments were being served, the guests surprised their hostess with a gift for her new home. Attending were Mesdames Christine Gonnemann, Vivian Wilson, Ned Giannoni, John Thomas, Harry Humphrey, and the Misses Elvira Alpetter and Mae Thoren.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT
Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Binz of Rochelle announce the betrothal and approaching marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Paul O'Neil.

Miss Binz was graduated from Rochelle high school and Iowa State college in Ames. She is now teaching in the Streator schools. Mr. O'Neil, who was graduated from Notre Dame law school, is prominent in Ogle county Democratic circles and in Rochelle civic activities.

STUDY CLUB
A description of old Spanish Missions in California by Miss Helen Nagle interested members of St. Anne's Study club, who were guests of Miss Helen Joyce. The regular lesson, presented by Miss Lenore Austin and Mrs. Leo McCoy, was followed by a round table discussion.

Mrs. Frank Koepfel, 310 Chamberlain street, will entertain the group, January 16.

Italians Dress the Milky Way

What will the well-dressed Italian wear? Skimmed milk! Italian inventiveness has found a way to turn milk into artificial wool—"lanital." Artificial silk and cotton have been made from vegetable fibres, but it remained for Antonio Ferretti to perfect a method of making artificial wool from an animal product.

Dixon Couple Pledges Vows In Davenport

Miss Deah Darlene Enyart, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis M. Enyart of 201 North Knox street, Princeton, became the bride of Edward W. F. Aschenbrenner of this city, only son of the Jacob Aschenbrenners of Ashton, in a New Year's Eve wedding solemnized at 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening in Davenport, Iowa. The Rev. W. D. Miller, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, heard the vows at the parsonage.

Miss Betty Moran of Sterling and Fred Stanley of Dixon were the couple's attendants. The bride wore a floor-length gown of du-bonnet taffeta, and carried white roses. Miss Moran chose a gown of changeable taffeta, and her shoulder bouquet was of white carnations.

Following a wedding dinner in Rock Island, Mr. Aschenbrenner and his bride went to Moline, where they were guests of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Enyart, until Sunday evening. They are now at home at 401 South Crawford.

Mrs. Aschenbrenner was graduated from Princeton Township high school in 1932, later attended Chicago business college, and is now employed as bookkeeper at the Dixon Paint and Wallpaper store. The bridegroom, who formerly attended Ashton high school, is with the Shappart Engineering company.

JOINT MEETING
Dixon Afternoon and Nelson Home Bureau units held a joint luncheon meeting Tuesday at Immanuel Lutheran church, with 40 or more members attending. Miss Marian Simpson, the home adviser, who presented a lesson on "The Ideal Diet for the Family," and Mrs. Charles Ross, county chairman, were special guests.

Two new members, Mrs. Eric Gerdes and Mrs. Arthur Clayton, were welcomed by Dixon Afternoon unit. Mrs. Calvin Brown, 806 South Galena, will entertain at the February meeting for the Afternoon unit.

IN CALIFORNIA
Mrs. Gracia Sickels Welch is spending the winter in Pasadena, Calif. Her sister, Miss Amy Sickels, resides at the Hotel Del Arroyo.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

St. Patrick's Catholic—Every Friday Novena to Our Sorrowful Mother. Services at 3:00, 7:00 and 8:00 P. M. Sunday mass hours: 8:00, 7:30, 9:00 and 10:30.

Prayer Service—A fine week-night crowd assembled at the First Christian church last night to participate in the union service in observance of the World Week of Prayer. Special music was contributed by the choir of the church, who sang an anthem directed by Miss Leone Ort. The Junior choir also assisted in the service. Eight city pastors were present and participated in the service. The sermon by Dr. J. H. Hughes, pastor of the First Baptist church, upon the "Presence of Christ" was a very able discourse and made a profound impression. The collection was devoted to the furnace fund of the Lee Mission church, whose pastor Rev. Charles Enoch, was present.

Special Service—Rev. Lawrence Mains of the East Jordan United Brethren church will be the special speaker tonight at 7:30 o'clock at a meeting to be held at the Grace Evangelical church here. Special music will also be presented.

Architect Files Suit

Against Dixon Couple

In a complaint at law filed by McCalmont, Ramsey & Bull of Morrison in the Lee county Circuit court late yesterday, action was brought against Frederick and Barbara Broughton of Dixon by L. Morgan Yost, an architect. Mr. Broughton has been acting for several months past as manager of the Dixon Home Telephone Company and recently resigned this position.

In the complaint, the architect states that he was retained late in 1937 to prepare plans and specifications for a proposed residence to be erected by the defendants and that the agreed fee, including his services as supervisor of construction, amounted to $750. Later, the bill states, the Broughtons abandoned plans for the building and the plaintiff reduced his fee 20 per cent of the amount agreed upon, which totalled $600. Of this amount, $100 has been paid the action contends, and the defendants since have failed and refused to pay the balance of the amount claimed. The complaint demands judgement for the balance, $500 together with interest and costs.

Peoria Youth Killed in

Auto Accident; 2 Hurt

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 5—(AP)—Junior Van Scyoc, 18, of Peoria, was killed near El Paso early today when the automobile he was driving and another car sideswiped.

John W. McDowell, 19, of Peoria, and Edward Meyer, 18, of Eureka, were seriously injured in the accident and are in Smith's hospital at Eureka.

McDowell, accompanied by the other three, started toward Peoria about 1:30 A. M., the survivors told police. The automobile ran out of fuel. McDowell stopped another car, driven by Russell Goodnow, Chicago, who took him to El Paso and back with a supply of gasoline.

A fee of $9 is required for every citizen's passport issued.

STORIES IN STAMPS

"Home on the Range" In Buchananland

THE cowboys in British-owned Buchananland have not yet reached the English radio net-works with their "dogie" songs, but it isn't because they're not singing. For the south central African land is a rolling grazing ground for most of its 275,000 square miles and a natural "home on the range."

Cattle have dotted its plains for centuries, but only with the arrival of the British in 1885 did the cowboy's work become an industry. Today cattle constitute a major export, despite the fact that the natives were practically wiped out of business a few years ago when an epidemic killed 90 per cent of their stock.

So the natives still clinging to tribal customs, tend herds as a principal occupation, do a bit of trapping and hunting on the side. But the British government exercises strict control to protect cattle. No animals, skins or horns, no vehicles except railway trains and automobiles can be imported without special permission. No cattle can be moved from one part of the country to another without permission. In this way the government checks the spread of disease.

Soil is fertile in Buchananland but the rainfall is uncertain. It is essentially a grass country. Millet and maize are the chief crops. In return for cattle exports, the natives get clothing, groceries, tinware. But civilization has not made great strides in the protectorate. Cattle are shown here on a 1932 stamp of the South African colony.

A fee of $9 is required for every citizen's passport issued.

Dizzy Dean Signs Up; His Arm is Improving

Chicago, Jan. 5—(AP)—Jerome "Dizzy" Dean signed a 1939 contract with the Chicago Cubs today at a reported salary of $20,000 the same as he received last season.

Dean was happy over the favorable report he received from Dr. Sumner Koch, orthopedic surgeon, who examined X-ray pictures of Dean's $185,000 ailing right shoulder. Dr. Koch said the injured muscles were healing splendidly, but prescribed further rest until the opening of the Cubs' spring training campaign next month.

Dean, who has given up golf, said he would not attempt to throw a baseball until after he had been in spring camp for two weeks.

Dog Credited With Saving Chicago Man's Life

Chicago, Jan. 5—(AP)—Michael, a St. Bernard dog, was credited today with helping to save Richard Shanahan from drowning in Lake Michigan last night.

Because of the dense fog which settled over the lake front, Shanahan, 68, became confused in his directions when he left his work as attendant in a parking lot and instead of walking west he turned east.

At the lake front he tumbled from a pier into 15 feet of icy water. His cries for help were heard by Michael and the dog stood over him and barked frantically.

Barney Greenwood, Michael's owner, investigated, and with the aid of a passing motorist pulled Shanahan to safety.

ALLEN REJECTS ASSISTANT MINORITY LEADERSHIP

Illinois Congressman May Get Ways-Means Committee Post

Washington, Jan. 5—(AP)—Representative McKeough of Chicago today appeared likely to become the new Illinois Democratic member of the ways and means committee.

The second district congressman, a third-term, was given unanimous support for the post yesterday in a state caucus. The state's single member of the committee last year was Chester Thompson of Rock Island, who was defeated for re-election.

While Democrats were pledging the support of McKeough's candidacy, Representative Leo E. Allen of Galena, leader of the Illinois Republicans, virtually counted himself out as a candidate for the assistant minority leadership in the House.

Allen disclosed, in an interview, that he had told minority Leader Martin, of Massachusetts, he would prefer other duties. Allen had been considered a likely choice for the position, formerly held by Martin, because of his close friendship with the Massachusetts congressman. Capitol observers believe Allen will be one of the new Republican members of the ways and means committee.

Comment on Message
President Roosevelt's message to Congress yesterday was received with enthusiasm by Illinois Democrats, but Republicans expressed criticism.

Representative Keller, Democratic veteran from Ava, said the address would go down in history as "one of the greatest ever made to the American Congress."

The President's remarks were characterized by Representative McKeough as "a true appraisal of world and domestic conditions." Representative Dirksen, Pekin Republican, said however, the President "might profitably have spent some time dealing with methods by which domestic good-will might be developed, as well as international good-will." He added, however, that he approved "the President's militant note in resolving to defend the American hemisphere."

What Congressional Leaders Think of F. D. R. Message.

Washington, Jan. 5—(AP)—Congressional comment on President Roosevelt's annual message followed party lines generally. Democrats finding much to praise and Republicans much to criticize.

Viewpoints were reflected in these statements:

House Majority Leader Rayburn of Texas—"A masterful setting forth not only of the state of the union but of world affairs and trends."

Representative Reed (R-NY)—"The President utterly failed to present any program of a constructive character calculated to restore public confidence in his leadership."

Senator Barkley (D-Ky), the majority leader—"It was one of the most comprehensive messages on the state of the union that the President has delivered and in my judgment it will receive the acclaim of the nation."

Senator Townsend (R-Del)—"I am opposed to the continuance of this spending spree."

Senator Bridges (R-NH) said he agreed with the President that the foreign situation is serious, but that shouldn't be used to prevent the amendment of the more vicious new deal acts in this session of Congress."

Representative Wigglesworth (R-Mass)—"Generalities afford no assurance of employment for the millions now out of work, of a helping hand for legitimate enterprise or the elimination of waste and extravagance."

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont)—"It was a great speech. I think it will go down in history as one of the great state papers."

Representative Knutson (R-Minn)—"A symphony of glittering generalities that was wholly devoid of constructive suggestions."

Representative Sabath (D-Ill)—"The greatest message ever delivered to Congress. A sound word of warning to the nation."

Senator McNary of Oregon, Republican Senate leader—"It was a revealing message—it sounded like a nominating speech for a third term."

Chairman Norton (D-NJ) of the House labor committee—"Forceful, opportune and important."

House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts—"I was sorry that there wasn't something constructive offered in the message which would give hope to the 10,000,000 unemployed people."

Speaker Bankhead—"The message was very excellent in every aspect. It was moderate, fair and logical."

ships" was not made by its own head of government.

European officials studied the speech as one of the most important declarations coming from Washington since the World War.

The democracies hoped it was a prelude to major changes in American foreign policy, giving particular attention to the possibility of revision of neutrality legislation.

Both the German nazi and the Italian fascist press accused the President of playing domestic politics and of deserting the isolation policy of George Washington.

Some Soviet Russian newspapers, in brief summaries, emphasized points on preparedness against aggression and the neutrality law but omitted passages about the democracies and religion. There was no editorial comment.

It was the liberal Manchester Guardian which contrasted the President's declaration against "dictatorships" with Prime Minister Chamberlain's "timid exercises in the same field," presumably in pursuit of his policy of appeasing the dictators to maintain world peace.

"Most English men and women, when they listened to President Roosevelt, must have wished sadly that it was the head of their own government who was saying these things," the Guardian said.

It continued that the British people who heard Roosevelt praise the democratic system "must have recalled with shame" Chamberlain's "naive confession" that, although fascism may or may not do for Britain, Chamberlain "could not get up 'much excitement over different systems of government'."

The Berliner Tageblatt, calling the President a "Don Quixote," said he was riding for "attack against windmills, his message an appeal for war preparedness against the inmates of Mars who recently set the United States in such unseemly excitement."

Italian fascists dismissed the speech as "needless alarm."

LEFT-OVER FOWL NO LAUGHING AF- FAIR SAYS COOK

Emily Lautz Suggests
Disguises for Turkey
Which Remains

Don't look now, but here comes the turkey hash!

No laughs, please, about that left-over turkey, because the wise diner knows that the left-overs often surpass the original roast bird in flavor and appetizing appeal.

Of course there is nothing better than sandwiches, into which some of the stuffing as well as the cold turkey should go. For lunch, hot gravy and cranberry sauce may be served with the old sandwiches. And as for the various hot dishes and combinations that precede the last treat of all, turkey soup, the ingenious homemaker can devise many surprises.

Left-over gravy plays an important part in most of these dishes, and for that reason it is important to make a large quantity of gravy with the roast turkey. Even turkey hash has many variations and always should have milk as well as gravy added for moistening. Actually it should be more like a creamed turkey.

A "glorified" turkey hash calls for two cups each of chopped cooked turkey and chopped boiled potatoes and cranberry sauce. Combine turkey and potatoes, season with pepper and salt and chopped parsley and moisten with milk or cream. Form into individual round cakes. Brown in shortening. Top each hash patty with a slice of cranberry sauce, or a spoonful of cranberries in the center. Serve immediately.

Turkey a la King

Even superior to the familiar chicken dish is turkey a la King, which calls for butter, mushrooms, green pepper, pimiento, milk, cream and egg yolks in the sauce. This may be served on buttered toast, crackers, or in patty shells.

With all the holiday baking, it is easy to reserve some pastry in a covered bowl in the refrigerator. When the same time comes to disguise turkey for one more dinner, roll out the pastry and bake in muffin tins, or patty shells. Serve minced turkey in a rich cream sauce, garnished with parsley, in the pastry cups, or prepare turkey a la King. French fried potatoes, or rich sweet potatoes, broiled a golden brown, are delicious with this.

Because the shells simplify individual servings, they are a particularly good choice for a luncheon party.

For a true turkey surprise, try jellied turkey and small cooked vegetables, such as baby lima beans and green peas. A flavory turkey stock, combined with plain gelatin, is needed for this dish, in which diced celery and perhaps a little chopped pickle may be used. A large mold, or individual servings may be planned, and the jellied method will use all the tiny bits of tender turkey.

Turkey stock, for creamed dishes, or soups, is made by simmering the bones with a bit of onion, celery leaves, parsley and a few peppercorns. This may be strained and served clear with a dash of whipped cream, or tiny toast cubes. Turkey stock blended with black bean soup is an entree fancied by epicures.

Boiled rice, turkey and seasonings open up a field of exploration for the creative cook, and turkey soufflé is not to be scorned.

Ramekin of Turkey

Two cups minced or ground left-over turkey; two tablespoons shortening; one-half cup stock; one cup milk; three well-beaten egg yolks; one-half cup soft bread crumbs; one tablespoon finely chopped parsley; one teaspoon salt; one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Combine ingredients and add to well-greased individual baking dishes or molds. Place in a pan of hot water and bake thirty minutes in a 350 degree oven. Unmold on a platter and serve with tomato sauce. Serves six. (Veal or chicken may be used.)

Spicy Tomato Sauce: Two cups canned, or freshly stewed tomatoes; one tablespoon chopped onion; one tablespoon chopped green pepper; or a dash of red pepper; three peppercorns; part of bay leaf; celery leaves; one-half teaspoon sugar; one-fourth teaspoon celery salt; one-half teaspoon salt; three cloves; two tablespoons shortening; two tablespoons flour; one cup sliced mushrooms.

Boil the tomatoes and seasonings together for twenty minutes, and press through a sieve. Cook together the shortening and flour, and gradually add the hot strained tomatoes. Simmer for ten minutes and then add the mushrooms.

Broiled Sweet Potatoes

With the turkey ramekins, serve sweet potatoes broiled a golden brown. Left-over baked sweet potatoes may be used, or freshly parboiled sweets. Peel them, cut in half-inch slices the long way of potato, brush with melted butter, sprinkle with brown sugar and broil 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown.

Steamed Fig Pudding

One cup ground figs; one cup coarsely ground beef suet; one cup flour; one teaspoon salt; three teaspoons baking powder; one teaspoon cinnamon; one teaspoon cloves; one-half teaspoon ginger; one-half cup sugar; one cup fine bread crumbs; two well-beaten eggs; two-thirds cup milk; one cup seedless raisins.

Combine figs and suet with sifted dry ingredients. Add crumbs, then eggs and milk. Mix well and add raisins. Pour into greased molds, or use tall, one-pound tins. Cover and steam for two hours. If made in one mold, steam for three hours. This recipe should serve ten. Serve with plain or whipped cream, or with hard sauce, or with a boiled, lemon-flavored sauce.

Mince Meat Coffee Cake

In a deep pan, melt two tablespoons butter. Sprinkle two tablespoons brown sugar over the butter. Cover the sugar evenly with one cup mincemeat. Over this pour the following batter and bake in a moderate oven for twenty-five minutes:

One and one-half cups flour; one-half cup sugar; two tablespoons baking powder; one-half teaspoon salt; one egg; two-thirds cup milk; three tablespoons melted butter.

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together. Beat egg, add milk and melted butter. Add to dry ingredients and mix well. Pour over the mince-meat, sugar and butter.

recommended strict legislation imposing penalties for "improper political practices" in relief.

However, he asked that the present program of administration be continued for the rest of this fiscal year to prevent disruption of the program, and suggested hearings and careful consideration before changing administrative policy.

Opposes Labor Boards.

He opposed turning the administration over to local boards, as has been suggested in some quarters. Anyone proposing such method, he added, "is either insincere or is ignorant of the realities of local American politics."

The president's work relief message went to congress in the midst of a controversy over the placing of WPA employees under civil service. Opponents of this step interpreted the move as a trend toward making the WPA a permanent agency, and declared it would give a preferred job-holding status to many administrative employees they consider incompetent.

Proponents replied that it was a step eliminating the "politics in relief" for which WPA has been criticized.

35,000 in Civil Service.

Under an executive order issued June 24 by the president, 35,000 WPA administrative employees will be blanketed into the civil service February 1.

In his message on relief, Roosevelt said it was his belief that "improper political practices could be eliminated only by the imposition of rigid statutory regulations and penalties by the congress, and that this should be done."

"Such penalties should be imposed not only upon persons within the administrative organization of the WPA, but also upon outsiders who have in fact in many instances been the principal offenders in this regard," he declared.

"My only reservation in this matter is that no legislation should be enacted which will in any way deprive workers on the WPA program of the civil rights to which they are entitled in common with other citizens."

Promises Second Message.

The President said he would send to Congress another message, probably in April, recommending an appropriation for work relief in the fiscal year beginning July 1. He said no one "wishes more sincerely than I do that the program for assisting unemployed workers shall be completely free from political manipulation."

But he warned that hasty adoption of changes to be immediately effective and which radically change the present method of distributing funds would "greatly complicate the administration of the program in the coming months."

"I therefore believe," he said, "that the Congress should make this question the subject of study and hearings, with a view to determining a policy to obtain in the fiscal year 1940, but that the appropriation recommended in this message should be made on the same terms as that for the first part of the fiscal year 1939."

Asks Speedy Action

Requesting speedy action on the supplemental appropriation to prevent suffering, the President listed four factors as making additional funds necessary, over and above the $1,425,000,000 appropriated for the first eight months of the year.

Two factors, he said, were foreign developments and the New England hurricane. Others were that employment on WPA projects failed to keep pace with the need because of lack of sufficient funds, and what the President called a customary lag before the "impact" of the jobless reaches the WPA. He said the $875,000,000 sought would employ an average of 3,600,000 workers in February and March and a diminishing number beginning in April. He predicted the total would go down to 2,700,000 in June.

He said the WPA rolls increased from 2,900,000, at the beginning of July, 1938, to a peak of 3,350,000. This number has been declining in the past few weeks and on Dec. 12 it had fallen to 3,112,000. January employment on WPA will approximate 3,000,000, he said.

Deflationary Force

As to the relation of world events to the work relief load, the President said the "critical foreign situation has had an adverse effect upon American business and industrial employment in this country, and has been an unexpected deflationary force affecting the prices of commodities entering into world markets, such as certain of our important agricultural commodities."

"This has accentuated relief problems in important areas in the country," he declared. "In addition, the hurricane which devastated large areas of New England last September seriously dislocated industry and trade in the northeastern section of the country and added to the relief burden in that area."

The President said the relief program at present was being conducted at an average federal cost of about $61 per worker per month, of which only $2 was over-head administrative expense.

In the congressional discussion of the civil service order, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) said:

"Marvelous Perversion

"It's a marvelous perversion of the ordinary American process. 'Ordinarily, the result of such an indictment as was filed by the Sheppard committee against the WPA would mean the wholesale evacuation of the 'gangsters.' Instead, they are to be rewarded by life tenure in their rocking chairs."

Vandenberg referred to a report of the Senate campaign expenditures committee which criticized instances of political activity by WPA officials and exertion of political influence on some WPA workers.

The executive order provides that WPA officials will be taken into the civil service by a non-competitive examination. The civil service commission would reject any that it found unfit.

Senator Evnes (D-SC), chairman of a special Senate relief committee, insisted this method was the routine procedure when departments are taken into the civil service.

Agricultural Budget

Congress was also asked to appropriate $968,158,851 for agriculture department activities — including $533,000,000 in subsidies to farmers—for the next fiscal year.

This would be $318,172,000 less than this year's appropriations. The president suggested in his budget message, however, that congress consider new taxes to meet any farm benefit payments in excess of the $533,000,000.

His recommendations included $485,000,000 for soil conservation payments and $48,000,000, the same as last year, for payments to sugar producers complying with the requirements of the sugar control act. For the current year, congress appropriated $500,000,000 for conservation payments.

Consider Tax Increases.

Roosevelt told congress it "might safely consider moderate tax increases" for meeting any parity payments it might deem necessary. He did not indicate whether he agreed with recommendations of Secretary Wallace that processing taxes be imposed.

The department activity sustaining the sharpest cut was rural relief and rehabilitation, under the Farm Security Administration. The requests for this agency was $60,000,000, compared with $175,000,000 received for the current year.

The president explained, however that his recommendations for rural relief might be changed later, when congress considers the general relief bill.

Farmers Start New Year With Some Recovery

Chicago, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Farmers start 1939 with prices of important commodities averaging 23 per cent higher than they were at the bottom of the 1938 slump, analysis of Chicago markets showed today.

Prices have risen the past few months despite substantial surpluses of most grains, increasing supplies of some livestock, and heavy storage stocks of butter.

This circumstance, market experts said, added weight to government forecasts that farm income will improve. Income is estimated to have dropped about 12 per cent in 1938 from the 1937 total, which was the best since 1929.

Comparison of prices quoted on various commodity markets here with the low points reached by these products during 1938 showed grains have increased in value from 14 to 30 per cent. Quotations for choice and prime steers have risen 40 per cent, hogs 5 per cent and eggs 50 per cent.

Most important farm items except cattle, however, are priced lower than a year ago when commodity values were on the downward swing from the recovery peaks reached in 1937. Losses compared with a year ago range from 3 to 35 per cent. Compared with the low levels farm prices reached in 1932-33 however, current quotations are more than double in most cases.

Higher prices received for grain, fruit, truck crops and dairy products have accounted for part of the recent rise in the general level of commodity values.

Cyclonic Winds Kill Three in Tennessee

Luray, Tenn., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Homeless families picked over debris left in west Tennessee today by cyclonic winds that took at least three lives, injured some 20 persons and demolished homes and store buildings.

Striking last night following a period of unseasonably warm weather, the storm cut a well-defined quarter-mile path in this area.

The dead were: Mrs. Cecil Wilson, Bargerton, killed when her farm home was demolished.

Mary Ann Wilson, 4, her daughter.

Monroe Willis, 45, Silerton, killed when his home collapsed.

Many of the injured were taken to Jackson, Tenn., but only five remained in hospitals there today. They are expected to recover.

The 17-year locusts, more correctly known as cicadas, since they are neither locusts, nor strictly 17-year insects are so regular in their periodical appearances that they are known under specific brood numbers.

Since ancient times, the planet Mars has been regarded as masculine, and the planet Venus has been regarded as feminine.

The first thoroughly American bombing plane was built by Glenn L. Martin late in 1918.

'Invading' Englishman Gets Russian Wife Back

Moscow, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The Englishman Bryan Grover had his Soviet Russian wife back today after five years and:

1. An airplane flight from Stockholm, in a second-hand plane after three weeks flying instruction, to plead his case.

2. Six weeks in jail after he landed 100 miles from Moscow last November.

3. A $300-fine and an order for expulsion from the Soviet for five years.

Moscow believes the two now were free to go where they pleased and that their freedom was due to government pleasure that Grover had dared all for the sake of a Russian girl.

Grover, 37, met and married her in 1933 when he worked here in the oil industry. He went to Iran alone in 1934. She was not permitted thereafter to leave. He was not permitted to come back to join her. Diplomatic efforts failed. So he bought a $900 plane and "Invaded."

Grace Moore Defends Curtsy to Duchess

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Grace Moore, operatic and motion picture soprano whose curtsy before the Duchess of Windsor at Cannes Casino last month set wagging the tongues of international society, returned to the United States today defending her act with the remark: "everybody will be curtsying soon to the Duchess, and I am glad to be one of the first."

"I always curtsy to an audience," explained Miss Moore, "both before and at the end of a performance. At Cannes I curtsied to the royal box, in which the Duke and Duchess of Windsor were sitting, and then curtsied to the audience."

"After all," she added, "she

(the Duchess) would have been considered royally long ago, if she had not been an American."

"The Duchess gave happiness to one man, which is more than most women can do and she deserves a curtsy for that alone."

An average of 1080 vessels per month have called at the port of Oakland, Calif., for the last 15 years.

State to Pay Indemnity for Destroyed Cattle

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5.—(AP)—J. H. Lloyd, state director of agriculture, said today that indemnity payments will be made in Illinois to owners of cattle which are slaughtered on or after Jan. 2, 1939.

The payments, Director Lloyd explained, will represent one-third of the difference between the salvage price and the appraised value of the animals, but will not exceed $25 each on grade cattle, except bulls, and $50 each on registered cattle.

Lloyd said these payments would be the first indemnities ever paid by the state for the eradication of Bangs disease.

Mobile Laboratory to Test Retail Motor Fuel

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Finance Director S. L. Nudelmann said today that a mobile testing laboratory will be placed in operation tomorrow to check up on quality of motor fuel being sold in the state.

At present, the state tests bulk shipments of motor fuel before it is unloaded from original containers. The new rolling laboratory will visit filling stations and make tests on the spot. Where fuel is found to be below minimum state standards, station pumps will be conspicuously placarded "sub-standard," Nudelmann said.

Color Big News
In Milady's Footwear During Year

Chicago, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Women will tread drab pavements in blue shoes and sheer yellow stockings—or maybe violet sandals and blue hosiery—if the advance styles seen today at the National Shoe Fair "take."

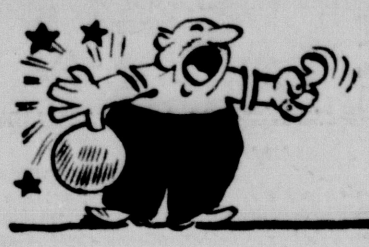

One thing certain: It is going to be a fanciful footwear spring and summer. More than a thousand manufacturers and exhibitors from throughout the country have showings in the fair that forecast definite trends.

Ninety per cent of the warmer weather shoes will have open heels and toes. Miss Maude Thompson of New York, stylist and supervisor of the fair's fashion show, predicted.

Patented leather in black and in colors will be highly important for spring, she said, estimating that nearly 60 per cent of the Easter-time shoes will be in this medium.

But the big news is in color. Some of the new shades are: marine and Parisian blue, reddish Burgundy

FANFARE

By DON DANIELSON

Coach L. E. Sharpe will take 30 players to Belvidere tomorrow night as the Purple invades the Boone county gym for a North Central conference tilt. In meeting the Belvidere squad, the locals face a real test of their ability against a team which has demonstrated plenty of class in their encounters thus far in the season. Belvidere has lost only to Glenbard in the tournament at DeKalb and lists among its victims the Alumni, Crystal Lake, Harlem, DeKalb, St. Charles and Des Plaines.

The jinxed Freeport cagers who dropped two games to Dixon—one in the second overtime period—lost a Big Seven conference game with East Aurora last night when Reese, rival forward, sunk a field goal with 20 seconds to play. This bucket broke a tie score and gave East Aurora the victory, 24 to 22. The lead changed hands four times in the final period.

Rochelle and Malta rifle clubs, co-members with Dixon in the Rock River Valley Rifle league, fired a tie score in a match at Rochelle, but the latter club was the winner because of a higher score in the off-hand event. Snow was high for Rochelle with 189 and Farley of Malta scored 191.

In the Rock River conference it appears that the competition will be full of fighting. Morrison, Mt. Morris and Polo seem to be well in the first division with Oregon, Rock Falls, Amboy and Rochelle battling in the lower brackets.

A "donkey" basketball game will be played at Wagner hall in Byron tonight between the members of the Byron grange and business men. The donkeys will be rubber shod. The trick of the contest seems to be to keep your seat on the mount and score too. Proceeds will be used to buy an electric score board for the new Byron community high school gym now being built.

Next week's Industrial League games will break the existing tie in the loop when the I. N. U. and Knacks meet in the second game of the evening. The contest has been moved to the second act on the twin bill which will find Borden and Eichlers in the first game of the evening.

According to A. C. Bowers who acts as overseer of the Industrial Basketball League, the team which draws the "by" for the evening is to furnish the officials for the games. Leslie Brown has been acting as referee and last night Emmert and Red Flanagan of I. N. U. and Miller of Eichlers acted as umpires.

Manager Charlie Roudy of the Knacks basketball team says his cagers will take on a Franklin Grove outfit at Kerten gym next Tuesday night.

Worley was tops in the Classic League last night at the bowling alleys of the Dixon Recreation, rolling games of 202-243-186 for 631. Other good games rolled were: Schroeder—211; Daschbach—202; Wolfe—225; Kappler—203; Dwyer—212; Klein—213; Millard—215; Witzleb—204 and 225; Ridlbauer—203; Plock 202 and Becker—16.

Head of Pro Grid League Says 1938 Season Most Successful In History

By JOE F. CARR
(President National Professional Football League)

Columbus, O., Jan. 5—(AP)—The 1938 National Professional football campaign was the most successful in the league's history, from the standpoint of attendance, from the standpoint of artistic, attendance and spectacular play, and I am looking forward to an even better season in 1939.

Climaxed by the "storybook" game in which the New York Giants defeated the Green Bay Packers to take the championship, the season presented practically everything ever witnessed on a gridiron.

The fans, responding to the hard fought and spectacular play, thronged the parks in such numbers that the attendance was more than 1,100,000 an increase of 15 per cent over 1937. The championship was witnessed by 48,129, a new single game high mark for the playoff.

Evenly balanced was the league this year that any of the teams in the lower brackets, given a few breaks, could have emerged with the title. Our selective system, permitting the lower berth clubs first chance to negotiate with graduating college players, will maintain that balance.

The selective system, now in its fourth year, started showing results last season, and as time goes on will tend to keep the competition on a more even plane. For next season we are planning more pageantry, more colorful uniforms for the teams and of-

I. N. U. AND KNACKS PRESERVE RECORD IN LEAGUE GAMES

Bordens and Eichlers Fall Before Stronger Foes Last Night

The Knacks cage team and the I. N. U. squad maintained their prestige in the Industrial league last night as the schedule was picked up from where it was dropped before the holidays.

In the first game of the twin bill at the high school gym last night, the Knacks found the steel rim encased with ice cubes as they downed the Eichler aggregation on a count of 15 to 8. The scoring efforts of both teams failed to click.

In the second game, however, the I. N. U. quieted downed the revived Bordens club in the best game the league has seen thus far in the season. In this encounter the net almost smoked under the heat of a 38 to 33 score.

Very Little Scoring
In the first game the Eichler team chalked up four points in the first period on a field goal by Ed Callahan and a free throw apiece by Coakley and Hasselberg. From then until the end of the fourth period the clothiers failed to increase their total.

The first period was marked by eight fouls, two in the very first seconds of the game. From that point the affair continued to be a rough-and-tumble and free-for-all. The first stanza ended with the Eichler squad leading, 3 to 4. In the first breath of the second period Bellows scored a set shot from the corner of the court and to this Ulrich added a field goal and free throw before the half ended, 8 to 4.

In the third quarter Ulrich missed on Z. Callahan's foul, Bellows dropped one in for Knacks, Ulrich missed two more charity shots on Hasselberg's foul and Ed Callahan missed on Gilbert's foul. Callahan's foul and soon added two points, on an under-the-basket shot. Murphy missed a free throw when fouled by Ulrich and the quarter ended.

In the final frame E. Callahan and his brother broke the ice for the Eichler team with a field goal apiece and Curlee scored for Knacks.

I. N. U. WINS
After suffering a one-sided defeat at the hands of Knacks in their last contest, the Bordens team came back into the fray last night with renewed spirit and fire which should make them a threat to league honors. The diary company's lineup included the services of Windmiller last night—and very fine services they were too, when he rang up a total of 20 points from nine field goals and two free throws. Some of his shots were uncanny one-handed efforts which clicked like a metronome.

High scorers for the I. N. U. were Hall and Earl Flanagan, each with 12 points. At the end of the first period Bordens trailed by only one point, 10 to 9 before the I. N. U. came back in the second stanza to ring up 12 points while the dairy lads were held to four.

Hall Stars
In the third quarter Hall went wild for I. N. U. and dropped four field goals as E. Flanagan contributed one. Windmiller was successful for three in the same period for Bordens and Bishop added two. Smith scored two free throws and the period ended 32 to 25, with I. N. U. ahead.

Bordens outscored the gas, light and power lads in the final period, 8 to 6, but failed to overcome their lead. The game was marked by 26 fouls, an indication of the serious intent of both squads.

Rose Bowl Heroes See It In Print

Shades of Frank Merriwell! Nave completed three straight passes before the scoring play which whipped the Blue Devils 7-3.

Malta Rallies To Trim W. Brooklyn In Last Minutes

Leading until the final quarter, the West Brooklyn cage team fell before the Malta invaders last night on the count of 27 to 25. In the fourth period Malta scored seven points while the hosts were held to a mere free throw. Last night's triumph was Malta's sixth in the Meridian conference.

West Brooklyn's players' best quarter was the second when the boys chalked up a total of 12 points to end the half 18 to 13 in their favor. The DeKalb county team rallied in the last 10 seconds of play and came through to snag the victory largely through the efforts of Wilkinson who totaled eight points and Scholl who made seven.

High scorers for the Lee county team were S. Michel with 12 points and A. Michel with 10.

Next Tuesday the Kings team will play at West Brooklyn.

VINES IMPROVES IN SECOND MATCH WITH DON BUDGE

Boston, Jan. 5—(AP)—Despite a decided overnight improvement, Ellsworth Vines today found himself two matches down to Don Budge, the abdicated king of the world's amateur tennis shotmakers, when they took off for the first long jump in their 70-match transcontinental tour for cash.

Vines, who opened in jittery fashion against Budge in New York Tuesday, had his strokes almost razor-sharp here last night but his missed so many of them by the scantiest of margins that the court's latest professional recruit gained a 6-3, 8-6, 6-4 victory in a match that both agreed was much better than their initial effort.

It was apparent, however, that Vines needs a bit more stiff work to regain full control of all his powerful shots. When he does, Budge, judging from his cautious performance here, will have a terrific task holding his own.

The cooling system of an automobile will not operate efficiently unless the fan belt, which is apt to become loose after a long period of operation, is kept tight.

Steward Loses a Close Contest to Rollo Five, 35-31

In a Green River Valley conference game at Rollo last night the Steward high school invaders were turned back on a close 35 to 31 count.

The Lee county team took the lead in the first quarter, 10 to 8, but the hosts came back in the second stanza to chalk up a total of 14 points and take the lead, 22 to 16, at the half.

Steward outscored the rivals in the third frame, 11 to 10, but could not overcome the strong lead of the second quarter as they collected only four more points in the final period.

Markis and F. Clucas were the high scorers for the victors with a total of 10 points each. O'Donnell led the Steward charge with a total of 12 points from six field goals.

Childlikeness

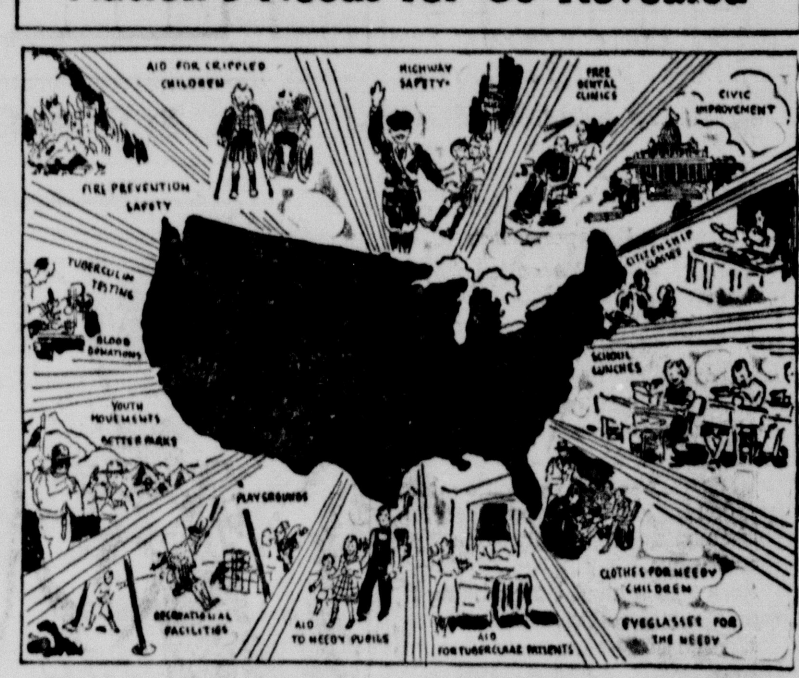

JESUS said (Mark 10:14): "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God." The great Teacher knew the loveliness and purity of the child thought. How the unquestioning innocence of a child must have appealed to him who constantly faced the unbelief and distrust of a world ready to destroy him! He understood children, and they came to him as naturally as the flower turns to the light, for the sweet, clean thought of a child accepts readily the loveliness of Love, wherever it is expressed.

One may think that when he attains a certain age he will no longer express childlikeness; but this is not so, for childlikeness is the purity and innocence of thought which is untainted by the beliefs of the world. According to a modern dictionary, "childlike suggests those qualities of childhood which are worthy of respect or emulation;" while "childish" indicates "its less pleasing and admirable characteristics."
Paul said (1 Corinthians 13: 11): "When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child; but when I became a man, I put away childish things." We can well afford to "put away childish things," the petty, trivial suggestions that come from mortal mind. In order not to be hampered by the "childish things" of material sense we must adopt the spiritual concept of existence. . . .
Mortals sometimes pride themselves upon their skeptical outlook on life, failing to realize that Life, God, is expressed only in loveliness and spiritual beauty. We cannot afford to carry with us day by day the burden that results from materiality. The egoism and conceit of mortal mind's claim to power tend to adulterate the confident and abiding sense of trust we should have in our Father-Mother God. Childlikeness includes joyousness, spontaneity, and a pure uplifted outlook on life. These we need so much in a world darkened by its own self-importance, troubled by wars and rumors of wars, the fears of mad ambition, and the pride of place and power.

In "Miscellaneous Writings" Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 1107): "Beloved children, the world has need of you,—and more as children than as men and women. It needs your innocence, unselfishness, faithful affection, uncontaminated lives. You need also to watch, and pray that you preserve these virtues unstained, and lose them not through contact with the world."
Is it not probable that Jesus, in dealing with the self-assurance of the doctors of the law, the phariseism of the priests and rabbis, the continual unbelief of the carnal mind, felt relief when there appeared before him the sweet, loving, wholesome purity of the child thought? Children, doubtless, recognized his tenderness and pity, and felt at home with him. If, likewise, felt at home with them, because of their sweet thinking. It is possible for all to include this same sweetness in their thinking, regardless of what mortal mind argues about age. . . .
Genuine childlikeness is a very desirable evidence of right thinking. When one manifests enough humility to be childlike and teachable, one is blessed with a serene trust in God, good. True childlikeness never strives for place and power, is never tainted with selfish ambition or greed, for it has within itself all the loveliness of good. . . .
The great Master left this statement, which may well be pondered by everyone (Mark 10:15): "Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein."—The Christian Science Monitor.

Nation's Needs for '39 Revealed

The year 1939 promises to see hundreds of civic sore spots cleaned up and a wide variety of urgent community needs taken care of in all parts of the United States. Dr. Edward J. McCormick, Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, pointed out in a statement released yesterday, following a recently completed national survey, The Elks, he said, are sponsoring worthy civic and community projects through their 1,500 Lodges in this country. A nationwide query to learn the nature of these individual community projects disclosed that they include, among others, the activities illustrated in the above drawing. These numerous projects break down into five groups: Health, recreation, charity, education and community welfare.

"This year will see democracy at work along a broad front," Dr. McCormick said. "Everywhere Americans are hard at work building a better America and some 500,000 Elks are proud of the opportunity they have to take the leadership in carrying on countless civic projects of distinct benefit to the communities in which they and their families live."

4,600 Truck Drivers in Boston on Strike Today

Boston, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Union leaders called out 4,600 truck drivers at dawn in a city-wide strike for higher wages and shorter hours.
With more than 200 companies declared to be involved, union heads predicted a tie-up of merchandise shipments in the metropolitan area.

The number of convicts in England decreased from 50,000 to 6000 during the reign of Queen Victoria.

Pecans, English walnuts and almonds are the leading nuts produced in the United States.

STAMP NEWS

THE U. S. Post Office Department issued 37 new postage stamps in 1938, collecting $712,395.65 in first-day sales alone. More than 10,000,000 stamps were issued on first-day releases and 3,463,990 covers were canceled at the same time.
The complete list for 1938 includes the 32 values of the presidential series from the 1/2-cent Franklin through the $5 Coolidge, and five additional stamps. These were the 6-cent airmail, Ratification of the Constitution, the Northwest Territory, Delaware and Iowa commemoratives.

The 1939 edition of the Standard Catalog of Airpost Stamps will be released Jan. 9. The new edition comprises 650 pages and includes more than 3000 illustrations. It is published by Nicolas Sanabria, Inc.

Rejecting requests from several large cities, the U. S. Post Office Department has refused to open philatelic branches over the country. The move would be too expensive, it was explained.

Interesting new issues:

Peru: Series of six, three airmail, commemorating the Eighth Pan-American conference at Lima; Italy: Ten values portraying the history of Rome; Poland: Four denominations commemorating the 20th anniversary of the Free City of Danzig.
Cuba: Two semi-postals to commemorate the discovery of radium by Pierre and Marie Curie in 1898; Germany: Two semi-postals marking the Dec. 4 elections in Sudetenland for the Reichstag of the Great German; Burma: Fourteen values, the first definitive series of Burma separated from British India; Greenland: Seven stamps, Greenland's first.
Antigua: Ten values of a "new reign" series; Argentina: One value honoring Louis Braille, French inventor of the Braille system of printing and writing for the blind. (Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.)

Improvement In Business Fore-cast by Durkin

Chicago, Jan. 5—(AP)—An improvement in business and more friendly relations between industry and labor was forecast for Illinois in 1939 by Martin P. Durkin, director of the state labor department.

Durkin's prediction was based on the expectation the current recovery movement would be extended into the spring and summer.

"Should present trends continue," Durkin's statement said, "economists for the Illinois state department of labor are willing to predict at least a 16.2 point gain in employment within the next six months; nothing short of a major crisis will stop this progression for the latter half of 1939. The high mark of September, 1937, will certainly be eclipsed in 1939."

The state labor director also said he believed there would be a better understanding between business and labor this year and that there would be more inclination "to sit down and discuss their various problems rather than face each other across barbed wire barricades."

A three-year average for 1925, 1926 and 1927 was used as an employment index for Illinois and given the figure 100, Durkin's statement said. Durkin said the low point was 55.9 in January, 1933, and employment advanced to 91.9 in September, 1937, after which there was a monthly decline to 70.9 in July, 1938. Beginning last August, there was improvement and the index rose to 75.7 in November. For the last month of 1938, he said, there were "varying gains of as high as 15 per cent over November."

"There will be continued gains," Durkin said, "for conservative trends based on real confidence and physical indices point to 1939 for the recovery of the remaining actual losses suffered since 1937."

PART OF CAPONE FINE PAID; WILL PAY $20,000 MORE

Chicago, Jan. 5—(AP)—The government still has $20,000 coming from Al Capone but it will be ready when it's called for, his attorney said today.

Abraham Teitelbaum, counsel for the former Chicago gang lord, delivered a check for $35,000 and $2,892.28 in cash, to the Federal court clerk yesterday.

That represented the court costs and fines assessed Capone after his conviction on three felony counts charging failure to pay income tax.

"We had a hard time raising it," remarked the attorney.

Upon his release from Alcatraz island prison, Capone must serve an additional year in a county jail and pay a $20,000 fine for failure to file income tax returns.

The gangster began serving his first term in 1932 and, with time off for good behavior, will be eligible for release January 19. Capone has the choice of paying $20,000 more or serving an additional 30 days on his second term and filing a pauper's oath.

Apparently the choice has already been made.

"The money," said the attorney, "will be ready when due."

Son is Held in DeKalb Jail on Murder Charge

DeKalb, Ill., Jan. 5—(AP)—Andrew Odnich, 43, remained in jail today while his mother, Mrs. Mary Odnich, 84, prepared to leave for her former home in Sharon, Pa., uninformed that her son was detained pending grand jury action on a murder charge.

Mrs. Odnich, who can neither speak nor read English, has been told that her son was in a hospital. He has been in jail since the death of Samuel Mantjaris, 39-year-old tavern-keeper. Police Chief Benjamin Peck said Odnich shot Mantjaris while in his tavern New Year's eve, saying he fired "just for fun."

Mrs. Odnich came to DeKalb three years ago with her son and was expected to return to Sharon with another son, John, within a short time.

State's Attorney Latham Castle has announced he would seek a murder indictment against Odnich when the grand jury convenes, February 27.

California Governor To Throw Big Party

Sacramento, Calif., Jan. 5—(AP)—They're going to throw a big party here next Saturday to honor the election of Culbert L. Olson as the first Democratic governor of California in 44 years.

It's going to be informal and a mere 125,000 guests are expected. Preparations have been completed for the barbecue of 50,000 pounds of beef. Workmen have already started warming up huge barbecue pits on the state fair grounds.

Other items on the menu included 4,000 gallons of barbecue sauce, five tons of beans, 200 pounds of cheese and 25,000 gallons of coffee.

The mass affair which will be free, was conceived by Democratic leaders and sponsored by the State Employees Association. Officials said it represents Olson's desire for a party for "everyone in the state."

The Tartars, several centuries ago, often ate books in an attempt to acquire the knowledge in them.

Wants Munitions Industry Put On "Standby" Basis

Washington, Jan. 5—(AP)—Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the House military committee indicated today he would lead a drive for new army air bases and for a $50,000,000 program to put the munitions industry in "standby" readiness.

The navy has recommended new bases for its planes and surface craft, and May said he thought the army air corps should have at least four new ones in addition to six previously authorized.

Of the latter, only the one for the northwest has been built. He did not specify where the thought the additional bases should be located.

"Inasmuch as aircraft becomes obsolete so rapidly, we ought not to stack up a huge production of it at one time," he said, in voicing opposition to a 10,000-plane force.

"We should provide a plan, however, by which private industry may be induced with government assistance to put their munitions plants in standby condition, ready for mass production at a moment's notice."

"I am in favor of spending at least $10,000,000 a year for the next five years for educational work with the industrial plants."

Discussion was renewed of plans to create a department of national defense. Rep. Maas (R-Minn.), senior minority member of the naval committee, reintroduced a bill to create a general staff for the navy. He suggested appointment of a point Senate-House committee to review the nation's entire defense policy.

It is believed that fish reached the Rocky Mountain region from the Pacific Ocean by swimming up the Columbia river, then up its tributary, Pacific Creek, the headwaters of which mingle with Atlantic Creek, on Two-Ocean Pass, in Wyoming. Once over the pass, the fish came down Atlantic Creek into Yellowstone river.

Half Billion Starts Flowing to Farmers

Washington, Jan. 5—(AP)—The agriculture department, speeding up its benefit programs, has started a flow of $500,000,000 in checks to farmers who cooperated with 1938 acreage allotments.

Thus farmers will get subsidy payments several months earlier than usual. These checks will be augmented in the spring and summer by $212,000,000 in price-adjustment payments to growers of cotton, corn, wheat, tobacco and rice.

The department reported that during the July-November period of 1938 its expenditures, including benefit payments to farmers totaled $202,010,949.

The July-November payments by states included: Illinois, $2,133,010; Indiana, $1,913,040; $7,456,151; Kentucky, $2,266,500; Michigan, $2,452,794; Minnesota,
